NEWS & VIEWS OF PHILLIPS SINCE 1976
JANUARY/FEBRUARY 2014 • VOLUME 39, NUMBER 1

This is the 40th Mayday!

Dear Neighbors!

On Sunday May 4, 2014, we will celebrate the 40th Mayday Festival—born from the Phillips Neighborhood! THANK YOU! You make Mayday happen!

Last year at this time I wrote you an in-depth letter about our yearly and critical need for volunteers and monetary support. This year I write with gratitude for the massive response from you all, as well as a heart filled with so many memories from the past 39 years. Thank you!

Here is an invitation for the upcoming Community Planning Meetings, a call for your much needed donations to assure Mayday's continuance, and an invitation for you to submit your special stories/ photos /video clips from the past 39 years.

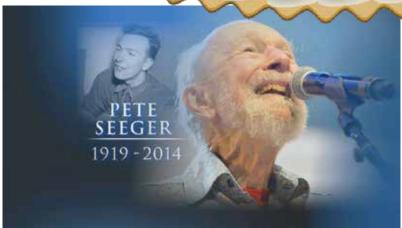

HELP KEEP MAYDAY SOLVENT

Every year we raise funds to have Mayday pay its way. In the Heart of the Beast Puppet and Mask Theatre is the creator and producer of Mayday. Contrary to popular assumption, the City of Minneapolis, and the Minneapolis Park Board DO NOT finance this event. In fact we pay fees to both to enact finance this event. In fact we pay fees to both to enact Mayday. It is truly the generosity of many neighbors that makes Mayday happen. Mayday will cost the theatre nearly $140,000 this year. If each person or family or group who enjoys Mayday contributes, we reach that goal easily. This means 20,000 people contributing about $7.00 each! (or 2,000 people contributing $140 each or 1,000 people contributing $280. You get the idea!) WE CAN DO IT!!!.

Please send or bring your contributions to "Mayday/In the Heart of the Beast Theatre" at 1500 E. Lake Street, 55407. I

"Oh sacred world now wounded, we pledge to make you free of war, of hate, of selfish cruelty. In this small corner we plant a tiny seed. May it grow in beauty to shame the face of greed."

-Pete Seeger

These words are painted above the front doors of In the Heart of the Beast Theatre's small corner lobby; always beneath the Mayday "Story Boards" and always above those who enter and those passing into the world who have the "most important fight of all – you [who] live in the heart of the beast."

Cookie Cuisine at Ingebretsen's

BY CARSTENS SMITH

Krumkake (KROOM-kaa-ka) is a light, delicate Scandinavian cookie, fragrant with cardamom and rolled into a cone. The northern cousin of the Italian pizzelle, which is usually flavored with anise, it is easy to make once you have a few tips from an experienced baker. Ingebretsen's has such an expert, Emily Barker, who will teach a class in making traditional krumkake along with a number of variations on Saturday, February 8 from 10 to 11:30.

"My Norwegian heritage is important to me and I like to share traditional recipes. But good food in general is important, so anyone who likes baking would enjoy learning to make krumkake,"says Emily. The name means "bowed" or "arched" cookie and refers its graceful shape when it is rolled. For people who want to venture into shaping the cookies in lessthan-traditional ways, they can try their hand with Norwegian "fortune cookies," complete with Ole and Lena jokes to tuck into the folds. Emily also shares a glutenfree krumkake recipe and a variety of filling recipes. To register for the class, call Ingebretsen's at 612.729.9333. The class fee is $5.

TB Spawned innovative forerunner to University of Minnesota Medical Center, Fairview- Riverside

Hilmar and Dorothy were only two of 101 people buried in the cemetery who died at Thomas Hospital between 1908 and 1917. Undoubtedly, many more who were not buried in Layman's Cemetery died there during those years and in the years between 1917 and the hospital's closing in 1929. Tuberculosis was the leading cause of death in Minnesota, and in 1910 approximately 2,500 Minnesotans died from the disease commonly known as the "white plague."

Thomas Hospital was a project of the United Church Hospital Association whose membership was primarily composed of Norwegian Lutherans. For $1 a year, members could vote on the UCHA's board, and anyone who donated $25 was entitled to a lifetime membership in the organization. Norwegian Lutherans were not the only ones who had a stake in trying to eradicate tuberculosis and a number of organizations, some secular, some representing other religious denominations, provided considerable financial support.

Individual and group donations were not enough to build a new hospital. George Christian, a milling magnate, contributed $50,000 of the $75,000 construction cost in honor of his friend, Bishop Elisha Smith Thomas. Christian and his wife, Leonora, knew that, although tuberculosis was particularly prevalent in working-class families, the wealthy were not immune. Their son, Henry, died from tuberculosis

Just before the hospital opened in October 1908, the board of Thomas Hospital and its Ladies Auxiliary held a carnival to raise funds to fur-

Hospital officials were reluctant to disclose the number of people who died there. There can be little question that the number was high. Although it was not called a hos-

The Alley Newspaper's last cemetery 'Tale" [Vol. 38 #12 December, 2013, page 3] was a story about a Norwegian language Bible that belonged to Rachel Kleppe. Inside of the Bible there was a letter containing the location of Hilmar Evenson's grave in Layman's Cemetery. Hilmar was Rachel's older brother.

Hilmar died on November 7, 1913, at the age of 29. Two years later, his wife, Dorothy died; she was 26.

Shortly after the story went to press [December 2013], Tim McCall, one of Friends of the Cemetery's most amazing volunteers, found a photo of Hilmar, Dorothy and their daughter Lillian. Bit by bit Hilmar's (and now Dorothy's) story is coming together.

nish the hospital. For five nights, they held open houses, complete with brass bands and, according to the Minneapolis Tribune, a "dozen dainty girls, attired in Norwegian costume, [serving] Norwegian food to hungry folks." Antiques and bric-a-brac were for sale. The price of admission was ten cents. The money was used to buy beds for the patients and furniture for the nurses' residence.

Thomas Hospital was built to treat consumptives who were able to pay for their care but it soon became clear that there was a great, if not greater, need to treat those who were unable to bear the cost of their own treatments. Organizations as well as wealthy pice, hospital beds were reserved for patients suffering from the most advanced stages of tuberculosis. Despite excellent nursing care and the most advanced treatment available, most of those admitted were already beyond hope. One of the hospital's main goals was to prevent tuberculosis, this "menace to the health of the community," from spreading.

The people who died at the Thomas Hospital and who are buried in Layman's were young by today's standards and in many ways were similar to the casualties of the pandemic of 1918. Of the 101 deaths, the majority were young adults, 70 men and women who were between the ages of 20

All ARE WELCOME! Both

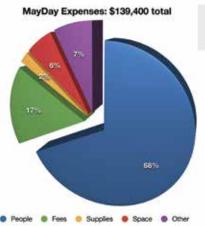

meetings are at In the Heart of the Beast Theatre, 1500 E Lake St. 40 YEARS OF STORIES

Because it is the 40th Anniversary of the Mayday Festival this year, we are collecting stories from the past 40 years. If you have a Mayday moment you'd like to share, please email Laney at communications@hobt. org with a short summary and that year's date, and any photos or video you might have.

VOLUNTEER!

You or your group can be part of the fun-loving crew that helps with Mayday Puppet building Workshops during the month of April, or assists with activities for the day of May 4. For a list of volunteer opportunities, contact Margery at 612-721-2535 x 8 or motto@hobt.org.

THERE ARE MANY WAYS TO PARTICIPATE and great ideas are already coming our way!

I will write with more exciting news next month including all the Public Workshop times. At this moment, the importance is to remind you of the upcoming Community Meetings, and our gratitude for your essential donations!

It is now past a month since the good surgeon replaced my worn bone-on-bone left hip with a joint of cobalt and plastic. It was a three-day hospital stay, during which a royal treatment was rendered by people from all over the world. However, it is about time to re-enter...movements, meetings and protests, and yes, the job at Smith Foundry.

Of course, the recent down-time did induce some self-examination, which in turn led to some reordering of living space. Hence, an old scrap-book revealed the photo of a proud Boy Scout saluting. Patriotism was a simple thing back then.

Then came the clouds of napalm and agent orange, tear gas and uncertainty. Indeed, our ruling class has stashed enough wealth in foreign accounts to pay off our nation's debt, if only they would

What is meant by the word "revolution?" A revolution constitutes the ascendency to power of a social class and its allies over and against the power of the old ruling class...in order to clean house and transform property relations.

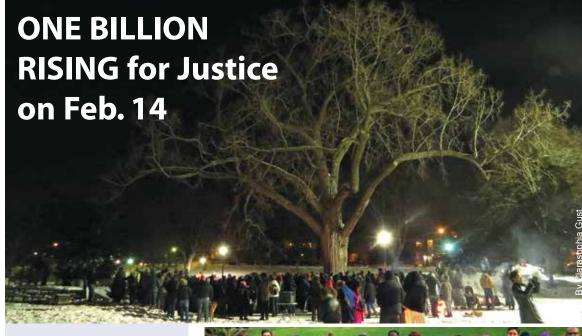

Nevertheless, I am pleased with the last election to our city's government. Alondra Cano is, I think, quite excellent. Moreover, Mayor Hodges' emphasis on early childhood intervention is an important key to social advance. We are, after all, in the period of "preparation of forces."

Note:

"Social Democracy" is that political outlook which seeks to reform society within the framework of the capitalist system. Presently, we engage a "united front" with social-democratic forces in opposition to right-wing extremism.

Will I live to see the revolution? Well, I intend to live another thirty years but, for all concerned, time is running out.

The BACKYARD INITIATIVE: What It Is and Why It Exists

The Backyard Initiative (BYI) is a dynamic partnership between Allina Health and its neighbors to improve health and health care in the seven communities immediately surrounding Allina Commons, Abbott Northwestern Hospital and Phillips Eye Institute. The BYI was designed and managed by the Cultural Wellness Center (CWC). The BYI supports efforts to strengthen community health by empowering residents to draw upon their own knowledge, skills, and cultural values to care for themselves, their families and their neighbors.

framing our work

Health is a state of physical, mental, social and spiritual wellbeing.

It is not only the absence of infirmity and disease.

Health is the state of balance, harmony, and connectedness within and between many systems-the body, the family, the community, the environment, and culture.

It cannot be seen only in an individual context.

Health is an active state of being; people must be active participants to be healthy. It cannot be achieved by being passive.

A partnering of the expertise and resources of health care institutions with the wisdom, competence, and experiences of residents, the BYI added a new dimension to a health system that focuses on promoting health in addition to treating sickness. From the beginning of 2008 to now, the CWC facilitated, organized and coached Allina's partnership with the community in successfully engaging community residents to improve health through self-study, surfacing and producing knowledge, cross-cultural knowledge exchange, and relationship building.

In 2009, early in the process of developing the BYI, residents were engaged to develop a Definition of Health. This definition became the foundation for the BYI and continues to guide its work today.

In 2010, a BYI Assessment Team was convened to create a picture of the state of health and well-being of the 45,000 BYI residents. Walk- around surveys and listening circles dialogue sessions completed involving 650 people. Community Health Action Teams (CHATS) formed as health practice teams. Team members made contact with approximately 300 people through outreach and working sessions. Thirty-five people were identified/named as Community Commissioner's on Health.

The CWC organized and coached residents and Allina staff in building an infrastructure that would maintain community engagement and grow the capacity of the residents to sustain the initiative over time.
